LSCC Gathers in Baltimore!

Members and guests of the Liberty Seated Collectors Club gathered in Baltimore, MD on February 28th thru March 2nd, 2019 at the Whitman Spring Expo to celebrate Liberty Seated coinage with the Seated Fest II and the traditional LSCC regional meeting.

The Seated Fest II will be covered in detail in the April issue of the E-Gobrecht (we are still compiling all the information and photographs). Attendees gathered for a quick group photograph before the Regional Meeting as shown below. Others arrived after the image was taken.

LSCC regional meeting attendees, Baltimore, MD, March 1, 2019.

President Gerry Fortin hosted the shortened regional meeting and opened with a club news update. LSCC Editor/Publisher Bill Bugert provided a detailed update of the March Gobrecht Journal issue that was mailed to all current members on February 25th. LSCC Regional Director, Dennis Fortier, covered a long list of upcoming regional meeting events followed by Educational Director, John Frost, announcing our participation at the ANA Summer Seminar (details in the following paragraphs). The meeting closed with a historic announcement from John - the discovery of a photograph of William Barber by the family, and first time to be published at any public event. That photograph is depicted on page 4 of this issue.

ANA Summer Seminar. After a year off, LSCC returns to the ANA summer seminar with a course in seated coinage to be offered in Colorado Springs, CO from June 16-19. Teaching the class will be John Frost, Craig Eberhardt, and myself. It's a lot like being at a coin show, except without the buying and selling. See <https://www.money.org/summer-seminar> for more info.

The LSCC meeting at the FUN convention concluded with a most important presentation by Steve Petty on the subject of CAC certification. Steve has been given access to CAC certification statistics and shared some of the data at the meeting. A fuller presentation will be made in the Gobrecht Journal in due course. Tidbits included the number of Liberty Seated quarters with gold CAC stickers (36), the percentage of all PCGS/NGC Liberty Seated coins with CAC stickers (between 4% and 9%, depending on the series), and the all-important CAC success rate for submitted coins (about 1 in 3, depending on several factors – higher value coins tend to have a lower success rate). We look forward to seeing Steve's full analysis in the future, and acknowledge CAC for their transparency in making this data available. It shouldn't be a mystery why one coin gets the "green bean" and another doesn't, and, with a common understanding, the playing field is leveled for everyone.

At the Baltimore Club dinner, Bill Bugert and Jeff Ball were discussing Kam Ahwash's burial location, which at the time, we thought unknown. Jeff pulled out his phone and located it almost immediately. Here it is from www.find-a-grave.com.

Absence of Evidence

Absence of evidence is not evidence of absence.

This succinct statement captures an important idea in statistics. An idea that is also relevant to searching for rare die varieties. Some varieties are unique or nearly so and may never turn up, or may appear only after a decade or two of collecting. Fairly early in my search for interesting, rare and esoteric Liberty Seated Quarter varieties I began to get frustrated with the number of allegedly “known” varieties that I had not found after years of effort. One veteran collector answered every question that I asked him with, “Well, yeah, it’s rare!”

I was just a bit too diplomatic to point out that the same logic could “prove” that unicorns, the Loch Ness monster, and Yeti obviously exist, but are rare. The fact is that there are many factors, including strike and wear or other post mint damage, making it difficult and unwise to conclude a variety exists based on one person seeing one low-grade example. There are quite a few varieties that I’ve heard about or thought I saw in an eBay photo for which I am withholding judgment while waiting and watching for another, hopefully higher grade, example to appear.

So, this month’s white whale was captured by dealer Brian Greer, who forwarded a photo and then the coin for study. You will note in the figure that a lump of metal encompasses the right arrow on the obverse of the 1853 Arrows and Rays quarter. After looking at the coin under high magnification I agree with Brian’s assessment that the anomaly is “probably post mint.” The interesting part of this statement is the “probably.” It is not obviously struck from a damaged die; and it is not obviously post mint. No matter how close the examination there is not conclusive evidence either way. Note that there is also no evidence of any post mint damage on the reverse of the coin adjacent to the illustrated obverse lump.

So here is one example. Now the question is: If this is in fact a die defect, can we find a second example to prove/support that conclusion? If you have or know of another example like the illustrated coin, please contact me via the E-Gobrecht Editor. I’ll be out searching for Bigfoot, but he’ll know how to reach me.

Photograph of William Barber Discovered! by John Frost, LSCC #2005

For years, researchers and collectors alike have sought a photograph of William Barber, 5th Chief Engraver of the U.S. Mint and designer of the Trade dollar and double dime. He served in that post from 1869 until his death on August 31, 1879. Prior to 2018, the only known image of William Barber was a profile portrait featured on an 1880 medal produced by son (and 6th Chief Engraver) Charles E. Barber, in honor of his father. No other images of William Barber of any kind had ever been seen.

As readers of the Gobrecht Journal learned last year, a painting of a young William Barber was brought to light by the Trepagnier family, when I was lucky to meet two of William's great-great grandsons. However, no photo was to be found in the family's possession, but the family promised to keep searching in their homes.

By an incredible stroke of luck as well as great timing, on February 18, just a week and a half before the SeatedFest convention in Baltimore, I was notified that they found one! An old frame, about 6" by 8" in size, contained photos of William Barber and his wife. They are positively identified by Edith Barber's handwritten note on the back of the sealed picture frame. It reads,

*William and Anna Maria Barber
Grandparents of Edith Barber Moseley
Great gr " of Charles Barber Moseley*

Framed photos of William and Anna Maria Barber

Borrowing the picture on short notice, I was able to photograph it so I could unveil the newly-discovered photo at SeatedFest at the LSCC meeting, and I am pleased to present it here. The high-resolution photo will be made available for download and publication on the LSCC website. There will be a short article in the summer issue of the Gobrecht Journal with background information and more details of the discovery. In the meantime, please meet William Barber as you have never seen him before.

Chief Engraver William Barber
First-known photograph, c. 1870s

Enjoy and please use the new photo. Look for other news outlets announcing the discovery to the numismatic world!

Happiness is Half Dime Varieties!

Two resources for half dime variety collectors have recently come to my attention. The first is Clint Cummins' excellent guide to half dime varieties by date and mintmark. Clint is working through the series bit and bit, and has posted analysis for 14 of the 70 issues. This guide is posted at <https://web.stanford.edu/~clint/hdag/>. Looking through the entry on the 1856-O, for example, one is immediately impressed by the depth and quality of the research. An extensive 28-page guide tells you everything you need to know – for starters, how to identify the eight obverse dies, the three reverse dies, and their respective date states. A handy table shows all the possible die marriages (pictured here), with everything cross-referenced to tances, bring all their coins, gather in a hotel room, and start sorting out the die varieties. It was a slow and tedious process, and the path between building a reference collection and publishing a standard guide was lengthy. Today's technology does away with the problems of distance and image sharing, which greatly facilitates the rest of the work. One can sit at their computer and access millions of coin images, and these alone answer most of the questions. The ultimate authority of course remains the coins themselves, but even without coins in hand tremendous progress can be made.

A second, new resource is the photo record of the Steve Crain Liberty Seated half dime reference collection, which is available on Newman Portal at <https://nnp.wustl.edu/library/imagecollection/514182>, for the years 1838-1843. As many readers are aware, David Perkins has announced the sale of the Crain collection, and Perkins has graciously made this important collection available so that it may be captured for posterity. Steve Herrman's excellent photography is on full display here, and in addition to the coins themselves he has captured the 2x2 holders on which Steve Crain recorded numerous notes on each coin. Crain was the ultimate seated half dime variety collector, chasing coins for an extended period of time, always on the lookout for a new discovery. His collection was comprehensive not only for die varieties but for die states as well. The LSCC has underwritten the work done so far, and we are seeking further contributions to continue the photography (donations to LSCC are most welcome, contact me at leon-ard_augsburger@hotmail.com). Between the Cummins reference and the Crain photos, Liberty Seated half dime variety attribution has made an important step forward.

March Update

Brian Cushing our West Coast Regional Director hosted the club table and the club luncheon at the Long Beach Coin Expo January 31 to February 2. Bob Clark assisted him. Floor traffic was reported to be very good and as the picture below provided shows the luncheon was well attended.

It is nice to see our West Coast members enjoying some good club comradeship. We look forward to seeing Brian in Baltimore.

John Frost and Dennis Fortier represented the club at the annual Knoxville Coin Show, February 1-2. Dennis gave a new presentation on Liberty Seated Half Dollars of Philadelphia. It was good to spend time with our friends from Tennessee. One new member was signed-up at the show.

As of this publication Seated Fest II is going on at the Whitman Baltimore Expo. With any luck you're probably there. There will be a full report in next month's edition of the E-Gobrecht.

The Bay State Coin Show is March 15-16 at the Best Western Royal Plaza Hotel, 181 Boston Post

Rd West, Marlborough MA. Bay State is one of the better coin shows in New England. Joe Casazza Northeast Regional Director will host the club table with John Frost.

The Willimantic Coin Show is Sunday, March 31, 9 AM - 3:30 PM at the Prospect School Gymnasium on the corner of Prospect and High Streets Willimantic, CT. This is a local favorite. The "Everyman Set of Liberty Seated Half Dollars" will be on display. It is hoped that members in the area will plan on spending some time at the club table with John and Dennis.

Club membership is back above 600 again with several dozen members renewing after receiving a reminder letter. Please consider renewing for multiple years or at least renew promptly when you receive the November issue of the Gobrecht Journal. The leadership team is all volunteer. Sending out over 100 reminder letters is a time-consuming chore. These volunteers do a tremendous amount of work for the members as it is. Please don't add to the work load. Renew promptly or let someone know you will not be renewing.

Renew your membership for 2020 now on PayPal and stay ahead of the cycle. Renew at: lscdues@gmail.com

Don't forget to keep the club updated on any change of address!

Heritage Signature Auction, January 31 - February 3, Long Beach Coin Expo. February opened (and January ended) with Heritage's Long beach auction. A reasonable selection of better date Liberty Seated coins were in this auction. A With-Drapery 1840-O half dime in an MS61 holder sold for what I thought was a weak price. However, this coin appeared to be flat on Liberty's leg and breasts perhaps indicating that one or more bidders graded it choice AU instead of mint state. Several better date circulated dimes and quarters were also in this sale. Three AU 1857 Liberty Seated dollars, a scarcer date that is available in higher grades, were sold.

Wanted: Material for this newsletter!

Please consider submitting something for print. It need not be elaborate; it can be something as simple as a short note on your favorite variety, neat find, nice cherry pick, happenings at a coin show, rare Liberty Seated coinage coming up for auction, etc. If you are interested in it, rest assured, others will be too! Sharing information is a goal of this newsletter and you need not be an experienced or famous writer to submit something. This is a continuing plea.

The E-Gobrecht is not copyrighted; use its content freely but please be sure to quote the E-Gobrecht and the Liberty Seated Collectors Club.
